

TRANSCRIPTS

THE DAY THE RIVER SPOKE

Let us listen (refer to page 12)

I Read the words given in the box below. You will listen to five people speak about school life. As you listen, circle the words that are used by the speakers. There are two words you do not need.

SPEAKER (i): (Father) Should girls attend school? Yes, they should. I do my best to ensure that both my son and daughter get equal opportunities. I look forward to their successful careers and rewarding lives. I feel education gives freedom to make choices in life. Whether my daughter wants to work in an organisation or be a homemaker, it should be her choice and the same applies to my son.

SPEAKER (ii): (Grandmother) I went to school but many girls at that time could not attend school because some elders in the village felt that girls should help in the house and take care of their little brothers and sisters. I am happy that the situation has changed today.

SPEAKER (iii): (Teacher) The school prepares students for meaningful and useful participation in the world of work by learning hands-on abilities and skills, developing equal respect for head-hands-heart, valuing the dignity of labour, and understanding vocational choices for the future.

SPEAKER (iv): (Student) I like to go to school. I feel that by coming to school and reading the books, I learn about things from all over the world. I also have friends with whom I can share my feelings.

SPEAKER (v): (Principal) Everyone should attend school. You must've noticed that the girls are doing very well. However, as the Head of an institution, I know that all students can work hard. My message to students is that they should attend school regularly and take part in every school activity without bothering whether it is for girls or boys. The idea is to focus on learning.

II You will once again listen to the five speakers. As you listen, match each statement 1–7 to each speaker (i)–(v). There are two statements that you do not need.

TRY AGAIN

Let us listen (refer to page 24)

1. You will listen to a story about an ant. Read the questions given below and before you listen, guess the answers to these questions.

Hello everyone,

I'm sure you have enjoyed learning about King Bruce and the spider. Let me share another story with you.

In a thick green forest, there lived a little ant. She was known for her determination and never-give-up attitude. One sunny day, the ant found a delicious piece of roti that was too big for her to carry alone.

"This crumb is huge, but I must get it back to the anthill. My family will be so happy!" she thought to herself.

She tried to lift the crumb with all her might, but it was too heavy. She tried pushing it, pulling it and even rolling it, but nothing seemed to work. Exhausted and saddened, she sat down and began to cry.

As the ant sat there, feeling beaten, she noticed a small bird nearby. The bird was trying to build a nest. It picked up twigs and leaves, but every time it tried to place them, the wind would blow them away. However, the bird did not give up. It kept trying, over and over again, until finally, it managed to build a strong nest.

“If that bird can keep trying and succeed, then I shouldn’t give up either,” she thought, feeling inspired.

Determined once more, the ant gathered all her strength and decided to try again. She called her fellow ants for help. Together, they formed a chain and lifted the crumb with their combined strength. Slowly but surely, they carried the crumb back to the anthill.

“We did it! Thank you, everyone! We showed that with teamwork and never giving up, we can achieve anything!” the ant shouted, excited and grateful.

She and her friends celebrated their success.

We too should learn this lesson from the ant’s experience—never give up, no matter how difficult the situation may seem.

Hope you all liked the story.

Thank you!

2. Now, listen to the story once again and as you listen, check whether your answers are correct. Rectify wherever needed.

THREE DAYS TO SEE

Let us listen (refer to page 36)

You will listen to a conversation between a mother and son. As you listen, select four true statements from 1–7 given below.

ANUJ : Ma, we have a new student in our class, Tara. She’s quite talkative and pleasant. You know, the writing in her books doesn’t look like ours. It’s different. She told us that it’s called Braille.

MOTHER : It’s great to know that your school has facilities to address the needs of the visually impaired. Thanks to the Digital India Initiative, which is paving the way for inclusion of the visually impaired.

ANUJ : Oh, Digital India! That's about being computer literate, isn't it?

MOTHER : Well, Digital India is about more than just internet access. It aims to include everyone, including people with disabilities, by providing digital infrastructure and services. For the visually impaired, it means access to assistive technologies like screen readers, voice-over-enabled smartphones and apps that can make daily activities easier.

ANUJ : Ohh... interesting. What is a screen reader, Ma?

MOTHER : I knew you'd ask about it! Well, a screen reader is a software application that helps people who are visually impaired use computers and smartphones. It reads out the text displayed on the screen and provides audio feedback.

ANUJ : That's amazing! So, Tara can use a computer just like we do?

MOTHER : Yes, she can.

ANUJ : So, it makes a big difference in their daily lives.

MOTHER : It certainly does. It ensures that people who are visually impaired can use digital services independently, without help from others. This can improve their quality of life. It also opens up more job opportunities in fields like IT, banking, and more, where they can work just efficiently like anybody else.

ANUJ : Wow! So that means people who are visually impaired can work and do things on their own? I'm so proud of my school.

MOTHER : Yes, and this way, we can ensure that the benefits of Digital India reach everyone, helping them to participate fully in all areas of life.

Remember, inclusion is not just about having the right tools, but also about having the right mindset.

